

CLOS FARDET

Clos Fardet is a family business which was run a long time by my grandfather, Mr. Moutoue Fardet : I succeeded him and after having finished my higher education in wine-growing and oenology, worked some time in the vineyards of Larroque, Hechac and Berthoumieu, before deciding what course I was going to follow in my professional life.

My vineyard lies in the commune of Madiran on a hillside profiting from a gravel soil and exceptionally sunny position. Every year, we have a yield of quality grapes with an average of 13 degrees Celsius. Presently, I have decided to make my objective the transformation and commercialisation of the production, in order to improve the value of the estate, and also to put into practise what I learnt on the ground.

Madiran is a wine of exceptional quality which must be given the maximum care to maintain its reputation. This was possible by constant progress in the growing of the wines, as well as in the making of the wine thanks to the achievements of our ancestors.

Thus, in common with all those who, like me, believe in a future for Clos Fardet, I want to enhance its reputation.
