MARANI

*The Vodka Spirit
Of
The Ancient Kingdom Of Armenia*

Marani's distinguished taste comes from the unique distillation process.

It is Filtered over 25 times and distilled 3 times with Honey and Dry skimmed milk.

The resulting smooth taste and body pleases any palate

In December 2001, the Zartarian family made a pilgrimage from their homes in California to their ancestral homeland Armenia. They found a country struggling to right itself in the wake of the break-up of the former Soviet Union, yet they were greeted with enormous warmth and generosity. The result was the family's determination to help bring the pride of Armenia's products to the US.

The family found the perfect product with which to start their company at the Eraskh Winery. It was a vodka spirit made in the traditional Armenian style, using high quality winter wheat and spring water distilled with dry skim milk and honey for a unique aromatic vodka spirit experience. It is aged in oak barrels. Combining the names of the family's three siblings, the spirit was named Marani.

In 2004 and in 2007, the industry confirmed what the Zartarian family had known all along by awarding Marani the Gold Medal at The International Spirit Competition in San Francisco.
